

Despite Reports in U.K. Press Doubt Imperial Super-Cabinet Contemplated in London Talks

By JOHN DAUPHINE

LONDON, April 24.—(CP)—The Daily Mail and Daily Express, Conservative London newspapers, headline reports that Commonwealth representatives here were discussing a plan for an Imperial super-cabinet, but it was learned from a most reliable source that no such move was being contemplated.

Say Monty Ordered Ban on M'Naughton

OTTAWA, April 24.—(CP)—A reliable source said yesterday that it was Viceroy Montagu who initiated steps to have Gen. McNaughton barred from visiting troops of his 1st Canadian Division during the brief Canadian campaign in 1945.

It was Viceroy Montagu who issued a reference by Capt. Harry C. Butler, USNR, made in a volume "My Three Years with the Viceroy" that Gen. McNaughton was refused permission to visit Sicily by Viceroy Alexander, over-all British Mediterranean commander and new British governor-general.

Informers, recalling the incident here Tuesday night, said there had been a long-standing dislike between Gen. McNaughton and Viceroy Alexander, but there never was any animosity between them, McNaughton and Viceroy Alexander, in fact, both soldiers are known to hold each other in great respect.

Gen. McNaughton, then commander of the 1st Canadian Army, visited the Viceroy at the theatre for a first-hand glimpse of "the Viceroy" and the Viceroy made a part of Viceroy Montagu's famous 1945 trip.

Gen. McNaughton said to have given no advance notice of his intention. But Montagu heard he was en route and expressed disagreement with the Viceroy's allowing such a visit. His command to be subject to arrest or to be confined, which might be ordered by an officer who had immediate responsibility for the situation in the theatre.

So, according to these sources, he signalled Viceroy Alexander, giving this commander the information of Gen. McNaughton's intention and asked Gen. McNaughton to be confined. Gen. McNaughton declined permission to visit the 1st Division.

Wheat Agreements Tells Death Ride of Open to Canada

MELVILLE, Sask., April 24.—(CP)—Agriculture Minister J. G. Gardiner said last night there was "no question in the world" that Canada can have long-term wheat agreements with Great Britain, France, Belgium and other countries if it so wishes.

Addressing a Liberal meeting in this town 80 miles northeast of Regina, the federal minister said if Canada could have agreements with so many countries, "there might now be enough wheat to go around."

He said he believed these agreements would be attained and then farmers would have security even during drought years. If all the food produced in Canada were utilized, first to feed Canadians and then the people who would be "export markets," the farm industry will be stabilized.

If the price of farm implements could be decreased by as much as 10 per cent, the price of the same farm implements would not be increased as well.

HE SAID HE WAS "SURE" that when the price of wheat was announced it would give the same satisfaction as the 10 per cent increase in butter and the increase of 10 per cent in eggs.

The Wartime Prices Board had done a good job during the war and there were no reasons to continue stabilizing prices. If things were done as they had been done at the end of the First Great War it would prove as fair as it could be.

He said he was "sure" that when the price of wheat was announced it would give the same satisfaction as the 10 per cent increase in butter and the increase of 10 per cent in eggs.

At the February meeting, the provinces, particularly Quebec and Ontario, were reported to have balked about relinquishing the federal income tax and to have asked for a higher per capita grant.

As a result, the Dominion was understood to have offered to the per capita subsidy to $15 and to use the 1942 national production figure as the basis for figuring the irreducible minimum.

The federal authorities were reported to have agreed to vacate the inheritance tax field, but not to have committed themselves as to whether they will give up such fields as electricity, telephone, telegraph, gas, and other public utilities.

Several factors make it almost imperative that agreement or disagreement be reached this time by the conference. For one thing, Finance Minister Flaherty must know before presenting his budget for the current year just what revenues he can count on.

The wartime agreements under which the Dominion had exclusive control of the income and corporation tax fields will expire this year, and the federal government is expected to replace the provinces likely to be forced back into income tax fields.

Note Left at Graveside Italy Fascist Party Members "Take Custody" Duce's Body

MILAN, April 24.—(AP)—Swift, expert grave robbers dug the remains of Benito Mussolini from his unmarked pauper's grave Monday night, a municipal communique said yesterday, and officials disclosed finding a letter which said the body was taken by the "Democratic Fascist Party."

THE OPEN COFFIN was left at the grave. The letter, signed by the party's "central directing committee," said "If Duce is again among us, his mortal remains like have been taken into custody by the Democratic Fascist Party."

The party took the body, from which "the light of eternity is spreading," because it no longer could bear "the cannibal Axis" spread by human dogs organized in the Communist party, the letter declared.

The time will come when the body of Benito Mussolini will be found by our sun, will parade through the streets of Italy, and all the corners of the world and all the corners of our women will not be enough to give extreme greetings of the country to this great son."

One of Mussolini's books was found by the open coffin, said Giovanni Cavazza, chief of the Milan "Star" Civil Guard. A dispatch to the Rome newspaper Giornale d'Italia said that a log was encased in the coffin.

FOR ALMOST A YEAR the bullet-riddled, savagely-beaten body of the erstwhile dictator had lain in Magliore cemetery, its location known only to a few. Details of the burial, after Mussolini's capture, summary trial and execution by the Soviet Union, were kept secret for years.

Members of the search party said they had given up the search for the day and were preparing to enter the police authority to return to Lamont when the body was found.

Dr. M. A. Young, coroner in the area, said the body was found in the street bridge in the mid-east section of the city. Police believe the body may have been thrown from the bridge.

Meanwhile, the unity of Belgium and the cause of the Royal House are being well maintained by 42-year-old Regent Prince Charles, who is King Leopold's younger brother. In a position of extraordinary difficulty and delicacy, he has behaved with sagacity and discretion. During my recent visit to Belgium, I was struck by the fact that he had anything but praise for the way in which he has handled a situation which has been not only politically

He regards himself as a trustee of the dynasty and has been at particular pains to make it plain that he himself is a candidate for the throne. When his brother Leopold was deposed by the Germans, he went underground and was almost incognito from place to place, to try to active part in the Belgian resistance movement.

THE CATHOLIC HIERARCHY and the Catholic party which, though in the opposition, is numerically the largest in the Legislative Assembly, are increasingly realising the need for withdrawing of Leopold in favor of his son. However, they are restrained, in coming to a decision by the consideration that, if Leopold were to be easily shuffled off the throne, the prospects

It is an early return of Prince Baudouin to Belgium if, in addition to his youth, the enemies of the King also wish to send him an emigre and exile, his chance would indeed be small. There is reason to suppose that the Belgian people are being brought before King Leopold if he is wise, he will pay heed to them.

Vancouver Downs Mortons In Rubber Game of Series

Vancouver Hellbuds got by one of the toughest teams in their drive towards retaining the Western Canada senior girls' basketball title Tuesday night when they defeated Edmonton Mortons 46-31 in the third and deciding game of the Alberta-B.C. series at Westgate.

Mortons had taken the opener 33-27, but dropped the second game 30-24. Vancouver's lead in a best-of-five series after the first quarter to grab a nine-point lead in the second and overcame the deficit in the third quarter to win 46-31.

As in the Monday tilt, the Vancouver girls went all out right from the start, leading 10-0 in the first quarter. They held the Mortons without a shot in the first quarter to grab a nine-point lead in the second and overcame the deficit in the third quarter to win 46-31.

BROOKLYN, April 24

(AP)—Ed Head, a former Montreal Royal, threw the no-hit no-run game of the major league season Tuesday as Brooklyn trimmed Boston 5-0 for their sixth straight National League victory. The game before, 26-27, was his first appearance in a major league game since July 9, 1944.

His feat was the first big-league no-hit since Dick Fowler, product of the Toronto astrolia, turned the trick for Philadelphia Athletics against St. Louis Browns last Sept. 9. Last no-hitters in the National League were hurled by Jim Hurling and Clyde Shoen of Cincinnati in 1945.

"I knew it all the time," don't ask me how, but I knew it," declared Ed Head of the Dodgers after he came over for his first game in the clubhouse and congratulated him on his no-hit masterpiece.

BC Indian Lacrosse Club

Would Disgust Chief Pontiac

By MEL SUPRIN

VANCOUVER, April 24—(CP)—If Indian Chief Pontiac were alive today he would probably be appalled by the situation that has arisen this season with the Indian Arrow Club of British Columbia's intercity lacrosse league.

The old brave of early pioneer days who used a luscious time at a decoy in a battle with the paleface enemies, would certainly not approve of the present-day Indian squad giving way to a white executive.

Still Sentimental

Hamilton Stays With Tattered Uniforms

By HERB JONES

CALGARY, April 24—(CP)—Hamilton's shabby Tigers are going to stay shabby—win or lose the Allan Cup final.

Packed carefully with their equipment as they entered last night with Calgary Stampede for "Stakford" and the fourth game of the senior amateur hockey series, tonight, were Cats' unwashed, tattered uniforms to which they attach much sentiment.

And in a separate grip was a pair of Art Child's old long "regular" OHA season and "freaking" team reports say now will almost stand up by themselves.

THREE GAMES DOWN, the big, hard-checking Calgary team—lost the third one Monday night, 4-2, in the toughest game of the series—Hamilton Tigers nevertheless were not downhearted. And to all suggestions of clean uniform changes and a new suit of undies for Child, might change the eastern leg, they brushed aside with "if we can't win with them, we won't win without them."

Capt. George Redding said that "Tigers need more than new uniforms, we need to get rid of the old ones in the first place."

BRADY, LEAVING EAGER as was struck down with "he on the team's arrival here, left hospital Tuesday and will go to Saskatoon. But the 1945 OHA scoring champion admitted he still felt "a bit weak" and probably wouldn't play in the series unless the Tigers win tonight and go on to Edmonton for a fifth game Saturday.

That meant Tigers would again face Calgary with Polly McInnisville, who was injured in the first game, in the lineup to fill Brady's leaving spot.

Meanwhile, all was silence in the camp of Calgary Stampede. The westerners naturally had a load of confidence built up by three straight victories but they weren't committing themselves with any predictions, particularly after Monday night's close game when they lost 4-2.

Calgary's largest hockey crowd of the 1945-46 season will be present at the arena tonight when Calgary Stampede and Hamilton Tigers meet in the fourth game of their best-of-seven series for the Dominion senior hockey championship and the Allan Cup.

With three games and the Stampede's advantage, the general opinion is that the series will end here. A few loyal Stampede fans and Hamilton fans to "Tigers" improved showing in the last game, but the fact that the eastern veterans, faced with a "do or die" proposition, will be the ones to surprise.

The arena's 4,385 reserved seats were the first to be sold last night. Nearly half less than 500 standing room tickets were in the racks at the arena office.

The rival clubs are due to arrive here around noon today.

Name New Referee

For Junior Game

TOBACCO, April 24—(CP)—Referee George Haves of Ingersoll, Ont., will replace Harold Gurdue of Port Arthur, in the sixth game Wednesday night between Toronto St. Michael's and Winnipeg Monarchs of the Memorial Cup.

Reginald W. A. Hewitt of the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association announced last night.

Hewitt said the move followed the death of both St. Michael's Monarchs of Gurdue's rulings in previous games. Haves, who operated in the American Hockey League during the 1944-45 season, is rated one of the top amateur referees in Canada. He will work alongside Stan Pratt of Ottawa.

Gurdue was reportedly criticized by Monarchs for allowing starry Ed Sloan of St. Michael's to handle a penalty shot awarded to his team in the fifth game of the series here Monday. They maintained that since Sloan—who scored—was not involved in the fracas which brought about the penalty shot, he should not have been allowed to handle it.

CAHA officials pointed to a rule introduced last year stating that when a goalkeeper takes a penalty, any opposition player can take the penalty shot. This is totally different to a case where a player is tripped by any other player and the goalie in which case the player fouled must take the penalty shot himself.

DOROTHY DIX SAYS— Parents Often Incapable Of Handling Children

When Parents Bring Up Their Children To Be Spoiled Brats, They Almost Invariably Do It Through Love! Yet They Bring Cruel Fate Upon Them

When parents bring up their children to be spoiled brats, they almost invariably do it through love, yet if they loved them they would seek to make cruel fate upon them. For they are fostering in them weaknesses that will be their undoing, and developing in them characteristics that will be a curse upon them to the last day of their lives.

Fun — Low Cost By ALICE ROOST

THE JUVENILE delinquency problem, which is a far greater menace to our civilization than the atomic bomb is not being manufactured by criminal parents, or even neglectful parents, have as much as it is by over-protective parents. Everyone of us, even when we are young, has known of some dozens of fathers and mothers who are so tender of their precious darlings that they will do anything to keep them from harm, even if it means making them into spoiled brats. And so we have the horde of youthful criminals who will our jails and clutter up our courts. Everyone of them made by weak and doing parents.

IT IS ONE of the most incredible things of life that otherwise intelligent people so often seem to have no sense whatever when it comes to dealing with their own children. They think that the pattern of a child's whole life is practically set in the cradle, and that if they spoil their boys and girls, rotten, they are going to be rotten as men and women. Yet they do not know that it is a miracle that a child grows up without being spoiled. They grow and multiply.

So many parents complain of delinquent children who neglect them that they are going to be rotten as men and women. Yet they do not know that it is a miracle that a child grows up without being spoiled. They grow and multiply.

Your Baby And Mine

By MYRTLE MEYER ELDERD
IT'S SO EASY to be facetious at the expense of small children. It is also unkind and unenlightened. When the child asks a question and the adult laughs loudly, the child is prevented from asking other questions for fear of being humiliated.

IT IS A THING in the whole universe of things which children and they ask questions about phenomena about which the parents have ceased to wonder, even if they do not know the answers.

Why do dogs chase rabbits? Why is it dark at night? Why is Daddy's leg longer than Mommy's?

THE VARIETY of questions a child can ask defy description, but each one answered lays a foundation of sound information upon which to build. The child has only the parent to ask, and ask he does, unless the parent and other adults laugh at him if they had knowledge they could not impart to the child.

ANOTHER CHILD'S QUESTIONS cannot be answered, so they are merely amused at the child's attempt to harness the parent's attention. "I'm going out to hang up my pants," says a mother, at which the child says, "Why?"

SOMETIMES, unfortunately, the parents do not know the answers. She has never thought about the question and she is amazed and confused when the child puts it on the spot. She thinks it is because of the child's question that doesn't know so she makes some silly response, or she laughs or she says, "I don't know."

Instead it would not diminish her stature to say, "I don't know, I've never thought about it before. But it would be interesting to find out. Let's ask Daddy. He'll know."

THE CHILD is in the process of learning the nature of the world. He is seeing everything with fresh eyes. He has intense curiosity and determination. One wonders how this is so in the child's mind. He is towards the questions asked. They are of a serious nature, and if they demand time and effort to answer.

THE CHILD is "No To Asking Why and What For," distinguishes between questions which must be answered and those which do not. It may be that by sending him to a stand, a redemptive envelope with this request to Myrtle Meyer Elderd in care of this newspaper.

Youthful charm as Actress Elizabeth Taylor displays above comes from careful beauty but not too much makeup.

I AM NOT AN extremist about makeup for young girls but I am going to say my piece even if it provides some mothers ammunition which their daughters may not like. Make-up for the adolescent girl should be as simple as possible. In the first place, it is usually in poor taste. Then, too, it is especially bad for the skin at this age because it has a greater tendency to clog pores.

However, there certainly is no harm in a dab of lipstick, a little eye makeup, and a touch of blush. These things are not so much a matter of taste as they are of necessity. A young girl who is going to school, or to a social party, or to a special party, needs a little make-up to make her look like a young woman. It is a matter of taste, but it is a matter of necessity.

JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

So many parents complain of delinquent children who neglect them that they are going to be rotten as men and women. Yet they do not know that it is a miracle that a child grows up without being spoiled. They grow and multiply.

European Children Badly Need Food

CAIRO, April 24.—(AP)—Maurice Pate, adviser to Herbert Hoover, said Tuesday that between 80,000,000 and 100,000,000 children in Europe urgently need food—the most poignant human problem in Europe today.

HE ESTIMATED $200,000,000 to $300,000,000 are needed for an adequate supplementary feeding program in Europe and recommended that it consist of at least one meal daily of 600 calories.

The worst conditions were found in Poland, which has the greatest needs," he said in a report submitted to Mr. Hoover, honorary chairman of the United States famine emergency committee.

He told a press conference that the situation in Germany is practically the same as in Poland, but added: "The Germans are better off and are making the best of what they get."

FROM DATA gathered in various countries which we have surveyed, I estimate that as a result of war, mass killings, vast forced migrations and famine there is today no less than 11,000,000 orphans and half-orphans in Europe.

He had watched "pale and wan mothers look on while youngsters devour soup and milk" in the few places where supplementary feeding is carried on.

He said England was doing a "magnificent" child-feeding job and that Finland was struggling to provide a "modest soup" for children.

Road Ahead

be graded by them according to the skill he displays.

ON THE BASIS of the results of this examination he will be graded as a second, or third year apprentice, as his skills indicate, and he is then apprenticed to some firm in his trade. He will receive pay according to the grade he receives on his examination. Thus, by taking the C.V.T. course, a man can get credit for his four or five year apprenticeship in a shorter period of time.

The C.V.T. and D.V.A. work in close co-operation with the apprenticeship board in order to see that they do not train men who there will be apprenticeship openings for in any one trade, and to see that the men are apprenticed before their courses are completed. They also check to see that while he is apprenticed the man is getting the variety of experience necessary to permit him to acquire the all-round skills required to turn out a finished tradesman.

IN THIS REGARD, due partly to the pressure under which the building trades are operating at the present time, there has been a tendency on the part of some employers to put a man on one line of work and leave him there. For example, one contractor firm, which had a man apprenticed as a carpenter, put him to work on a power saw—and kept him there that one job for months.

This was good business for the firm, because as the man became increasingly skilled with the saw he was able to turn out a lot of work on it. But he wasn't getting the experience necessary to permit him to practise his trade as an all-round carpenter.

To prevent this happening, constant supervision of trainees and their employers is necessary. Sometimes the fault lies with the man who prefers to keep on doing one relatively simple operation with the employer, rather than to defeat the object of the apprenticeship training plan.

BUT IN SPITE of all these plans it is felt by many that there is not yet sufficient provision for the training of the number of skilled men necessary to meet the demands of the construction industry. We need not only homes, but commercial and industrial buildings of many kinds. Most of our present tradesmen are nearing retirement age—the present ratio of apprentices to journeymen will hardly permit for the replacing of the older mechanics on retirement, let alone for any expansion.

Some extra provision must be made to enable us to meet these demands. To be satisfactory to all the suggestion must come from labor itself. Personally I believe the answer lies in the development of the "split-shift" plan which I outlined a couple of weeks ago. Labor isn't too busy about this for fear the development of a large number of "hand-men" will weaken their bargaining position on the labor market.

BUT I FEEL that that is a situation which can be guarded against. Somehow the demand must be met. Necessarily it is the number of journeymen. There is a necessity for increased building today. And unless the skilled labor is available we can be certain somebody will devise new building techniques which might even render most of the old trades obsolete.

Begin Arbitration

Factory Seizure
PRINCE ALBERT, April 24.—(CP)—Arbitration proceedings in the dispute over compensation to be paid John C. Munn for the Prince Albert box factory seized last November by the Saskatchewan government will take the form of an informal round table discussion in Saskatoon Wednesday. C. S. Davis, K.C., counsel for Mr. Munn, said yesterday. The Saskatchewan government appropriated the factory after the alleged failure of Mr. Mitchell to comply with an order of the Saskatchewan Labor Relations board to negotiate an agreement with the union of his employees.
